Memorial Day

Memorial Day was beautifully observed on the sacred soil of old Appomattox at the Confederate Cemetery with a delightful program Rev. Redding presided over the opening prayer, followed by Dixie, sung in unison. Mrs. Lindsay Crawley gave a beautiful poem "In the Land Where We Were Dreaming." The Confederate Veterans, Daughters and guests listened with enjoyment to a speech by confederate veteran Moore, a double quartet consisting of Dr. Dudley, Mr. Walter Scott, Misses Anna Jones. Margaret Smith, and Louise Gills rendered two selections—"Just Before the Battle Mother" and "Massa's In de Cold, Cold Ground.'' Miss Jones, with fitting remarks introduced Rev. W. M. Thompson, who made the address of the occasion, which met with hearty applause. He combined pathos and humor; to patriotism, he gave a practical application, and pleaded for a reign of Peace Mrs. Ould gave a lovely poem of her own composing. Miss Jones, president of the U. D. C. Chapter, together with the former presidents, Mesdames D. N. Twyman, W. B. Caldwell and Miss Eula Burke and Mrs. Lindsay Crawley gave deserved thanks to Senator Ferguson for work in behalf of the Chapter. After the closing prayer by Rev Redding the veterans, daughters and speakers gathered on the lawn of Mrs. S. A. Ferguson, where they enjoyed a delightful luncheon. At this time they were entertained with old ballads by Miss Margaret Hancock and after dinner speeches by Rev. Thompson and Rev. Redding. Mrs. Ould gave a humorous selection. The occasion was pronounced a delightful one and the veterans appreciated the chatter's efforts in their behalf.

Oh, soldiers of the sixties, as I look into your face
As I ponder, very u history, and your loyal
I can see a vivid picture, that no artist can portray,
The blue army of Virginia, fighting the battle of the day
We will not forget the battles, that you fought to make us free,
Oh brave soldiers of the sixties, we revere
you, you see
You fought the battles bravely, while the foe with power is on
And the army of Virginia had no power to
But in this union has come to stay, to stay at any cost
The flag that floats above us all, we will proudly
And we will show to all the world, how soldiers
can forgive
This flag it spins and yours today, we a gory
at the sight,
We shall ever stars in field of blue, as emblem of our might.
We meet today both north and south, not brothers ever more
Till all now the strife has ceased, and we will brothers be
Then we will march forth to war, he led for you and me
So together we fight on a battle field, where
The battle is for one and hard and strong, he was on the way and right.
There are battles to be fought that must be won, the grave and armor bore,
And we will fight for God and country fought, he fought before.
Come now, scrolls exist for service, under
sunny Old Virginia skies,
Where the standard bearer, and we shall unfold it be Come county in his footsteps, as he leads
against the wrong
For God and country conflict, and th foe is mighty strong
But we are sure to win the battle, if we move
at his command
And we'll take our stand for Jesus, and I
Christian flag will stand.

Mary Succeeds on Main Street

By LAURA MILLER

CHARM—PLUS CASH

The date of her husband's death decided her career. It was in 1918 that Katherine Walker Smith suddenly faced the world with two young children and a factory mortgage against her.

Mr. Smith had developed a small but healthy trade demand for leather accessories. Then the war put such a crimp in nonessential industries that the Smith factory inheritance ran almost as well have been no inheritance at all. She could not find a purchaser who could give me hope until conditions brought opportunity to several sewed prosperity. Then she was afraid to try such a seemingly hopeless venture as managing a person, possessing no business training, a half-dead business.

So she sold the factory for what she could get. Her situation had made her think in terms and values to consider seriously what business ability she lack. That decision seemed to be the selling, although selling the idea that woman suffrage would not destroy the universe in conservative Missouri voters measured the extent of her contact with the public.

She decided to sell things she'd enjoyed buying and to sell 'em if possible to people she'd enjoy serving. She moved to Evanston, Ill., and opened the tiniest of shops dealing in women's fine wear. Evanston offered the advantages she felt she needed. It was small enough so she could easily become known without expensive advertising. It has a resident group of well-to-do people, who are discriminating buyers of high-class clothing. It has a large group of college girls who are always looking for an extra sports blouse, another set of lingerie, or a scarf that looks as the campus girls duplicate. It has, to be reached within an hour, a big wholesale district where special commissions can be quickly executed. It has good schools and young people of the age she wanted her boy and girl to grow up with. And it has a dainty gray-painted shop bearing in tiny gold letters on window, "Katherine Walker Smith."

The shop adjoins the best hotel in town. Its on the route generally followed by university girls shopward bound. It is hardly one hundred feet from the main business thoroughfare. It has produced an attractive home, a generous life insurance policy, a bank account that will shortly send the two young Smiths through college, and a very charming, good-to-look-upon woman, who seems younger than when she started to work.

If you expect to have a sale of anything, it would pay you to talk the matter over with

Men and Money Make this Bank Secure.

THERE are two ways of measuring the strength and standing of a bank. In the first place money resources—capital and surplus—give it financial strength.

In the second place—and perhaps even more important—are men, the officers and directors. They give the bank character, determine and execute its policies.

This is a strong bank, a helpful bank because it has ample resources, and a personnel of proven character and ability.

BILIOUS SPELLS

Kentucky Man Finds Relief from Dizzy Attacks.

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month," says Mr. J. J. Nevins, of Lawrenceburg, Ky. "I would have dizziness at times, and would be very constipated.

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything.

"It seemed to cleanse my whole system and made me feel like new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and I have my usual clear head, feel all 'pep' and could go twice the work."

Black-Draught is made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs. Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for such symptoms as the above, when due to a torpid liver.

STATE CAPITAL

War Memorial Body To Meet June 11.

Thursday, June 11, has been set as the tentative date for the meeting of the Virginia War Memorial Commission, at which the program for the architectural competition will be presented to the full body for final action. This announcement was made following a conference attended by Dr. Wardren P. Laird, professional adviser to the commission, and Chairman Morgan R. Mills, Secretary John J. Wicker, Jr., and Captain James R. Sheppard, Junior.

The tentative program submitted to the Richmond members by Dr. Laird will be gone over by the seven Virginia architects competing for the memorial award, and their foreign associates.

The program brought here by Dr. Laird has been approved by the competition committees of the American Institute of Architecture and the National Sculpture Society. In order to give the competing architects every opportunity to familiarize themselves with its provision, the local subcommittee has arranged to go over the program with them before submitting it to the commissioners. After discussing the provisions of the competition the architects will be taken to the proposed site of the memorial in Byrd Park.

Huge Stills Taken

Patrick county's apparently inexhaustible supply of stills and whisky has been reduced by five big plants, 17,500 gallons of mash and 144 gallons of whisky, reports made to the Attorney-General's office show. The stills taken by Officers B. A. Anthony and H. H. Powell ranged from 150 to 200-gallon capacity and were made of copper and tin. One of the biggest plants seized recently was destroyed by Anthony when he discovered two stills of one of 500-gallon and one of 250 gallon capacity. This plant alone was capable of turning out enough illicit hootch to keep a regiment supplied. In addition to 100 gallons of ardent spirits and 3,000 gallons of mash, ready to run, the officers seized 1,100 pounds of meal, 900 pounds of malted grain, 100 pounds of sugar and twenty-six fermenters. Only one arrest was made in connection with the big captures.

As the result of a week's raiding in the fastnesses of Norfolk county, Inspectors Frank H. Wilson and S. B. Chase reported the seizure of nine stills and 2,550 gallons of mash. No arrests were reported in any of these captures. Unlike the stills of Patrick county, where moonshining is a century-old profession, the Tidewater stills were all made of galvanized iron —a metal which is not credited with turning out good whisky. The plants were small, capacity from thirty to one hundred gallons.

Seizure of a 150-gallon copper still was reported by J. T. Chaney, from Mecklenburg county, and a forty-five gallon plant was taken by the same officer in Charlotte. Two young white men were charged with manufacturing. In connection with the last raid, Dovell To Offer For House Again.

Ashton Dovell, of Williamsburg, while on a visit here announced his candidacy for re-election as a member of the House of Delegates from James City, New Kent, and Charles City counties, and the city of Williamsburg.

Delegate Dovell said no opposition had developed thus far. Mr. Dovell formerly was Commonwealth's Attorney of James City county, and is one of the leading lawyers of this section. He rose rapidly in the General Assembly in his first term in 1924, and was generally honored when chosen by the House to deliver a eulogy of Woodrow Wilson, as an orator Mr. Dovell is one of the best known public officials in Virginia.

Pilots Foresee Blow To Shipping.

A body of discouraged pilots and crippled service to shipping in Hampton Roads would result from such a slashing of rates as is requested by "enemies" of the Virginia Pilot Association, according to arguments presented in a brief filed with the State Corporation Commission by W. D. Cardwell and Judge Thomas H. Willcox. If the proposed changes are put into effect the paper says, opponents of the association will have succeeded in breaking it up and getting the pilotage business for themselves and the outboat men.

Appoints Winchester Guardsmen

Appointment of First Lieutenant James Perry and Second Lieutenant Wilson Stoffel to Company I, 116th Infantry, at Winchester, was announced by Adjutant General W. W. Sale.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that Catarrh is a local disease, and that to effectively overcome it the general condition must be improved. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which Quickly Relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic which assists in improving the general health. Sold by druggists for over 40 Years. Sold by druggists for over 40 Years. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

BADLY RUN-DOWN

Lady Was Very Depressed on Account of Poor Health.

Mrs. H. S. Miller, of Spindale, N. C., says: "Five years ago I was very much run-down in health, I would give out with the least exertion. At times I would have to go to bed.

"I read of Cardui. My husband got me a bottle, and encouraged me to take it. I was almost a skeleton, I was so thin. But Cardui soon built me up. My general health was very poor. I was also very depressing and gave me the blues. My husband, I used to be so nervous. He did all he could for me and had me keep up Cardui.

"I continued taking that medicine for several months and it was wonderful the improvement I made. I gained over twenty pounds in weight, and I felt so much better besides. This gain has permanent, too. I have never lost it and my general health has been much better since I took Cardui."
